Lesley, wanted to tell that I just received the package, everything is awesome))) but there was only one dress, I guess the other one will come separately... I have no idea, I have never used amazon ♦

Have a wonderful day!! * [REDACTED]

Oh, I didn't know, thank you for doing this for me then)). So I sent now all the information to them, but the screenshot was pretty blurry, no details :D I hope they will be fine with everything, but they might be asking once more for the screenshot...

Hi [REDACTED]...so you know, I actually paid for your orders with my personal credit card because I am the one with the amazon account (don't worry-Jeffrey will reimburse me ;)
But that is why it is my name and credit card info...

So I would need a screenshot from the Order What items are being sent (ordered) and screenshot about making the payment. I guess for this I need you to log into your amazon and send to me, everything else I have sent.

It is actually strange how many things they are asking this time... hope it goes fast.

Have a lovely day)

Morning [REDACTED]..PLEASE call DHL! give them what they need...i am told DHL called you and sent you an email! You must email them the information they need...they have not heard back from you as of yet.

[REDACTED] I believe is the number you should call. I sent you the confirmation of the order last week. The DHL representative I spoke with said you were sent the email and it has all the information you need to get you your package. Let me know how you do please!
thanks, Lesley

Great, thank you Lesley :) I received today an email that it is in the custom and needs a warrant of a passport, receipt proving the order and receipt proving that the payment has been made, do you have everything? I made the passport copy the way they need, hope it helps, should I be sending everything to them or you will?
