

To: Charlie Albright[
From: ~~Lesley, Grown~~
Sent: Wed 9/13/2017 2:44:17 PM
Subject: Re: Review

Yes, you have several more concerts that might be possible...I will keep in our calendar...
re releasing the tickets,

On Sep 13, 2017, at 10:37 AM, Charlie Albright <[REDACTED]>
wrote:

Oh no! Well if not this time, maybe next time on 10/15 in Boston or in Mamaroneck on 10/22, or Philadelphia with the Chamber Orchestra on 11/5 or 11/6! :)
Do you think I should I keep two tickets under his name for this weekend in case, or should I release them?

-Charlie

On Sep 13, 2017, at 7:35 AM, [REDACTED]
wrote:

Hi Charlie...I am thinking it may not work out for Jeffrey to attend after all...but am crossing my fingers...he may decide last minute...I'll keep you posted.

On Sep 11, 2017, at 1:52 PM, Charlie Albright
<[REDACTED]> wrote:

Dear [REDACTED]
Happy Monday! Of course!

Here is the concert

site: <https://www.gardnermuseum.org/calendar/event/charlie-albright-20170917>

It's the first of three concerts I'm giving there this season. It starts at 1:30pm on 9/17/2017 and is an hour-long concert. Should be all through by 2:30pm. I'm playing the Chopin Andante Spianato/Grande Polonaise Brillante, and the Chopin Etudes, Op. 25.

I have 2 tickets I've been saving...if Mr. Epstein can come I'd be honored to have him as my guest! Please let me know if he might be in the area that day~

-Charlie

On Sep 11, 2017, at 9:44 AM, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] > wrote:

Hi Charlie...hope you are well. Can you please give me the details of your concert in Boston on Sunday Sept.17?
timing? etc...

[REDACTED]

On Sep 2, 2017, at 10:42 AM, Charlie Albright
<[REDACTED]>
wrote:

<Review - Chopin- Beyond the Sound Barrier at Bard | The Millbrook Independent (2017-09-02).pdf>