Hey there friend!

So sweet of you and Ike to always include us in your Texas BBQ party! As usual there is another conflict - ughh!! This year not my brother - believe it or not! The priest who married us and long term friend of Rick's is turning 70 - there is a celebration for him in the city that same night- Rick thinks we will go in and just stay for a couple of hours and then come home - Does your party go late? We could come as a "maybe" and come late around 10 if folks are still hanging out and we make it back in time?

LMK :)
