Intermediary Disclosure. Amex assists you in finding travel suppliers and making arrangements that meet your needs. We consider various factors in identifying travel suppliers to you and recommending specific itineraries. In this role, we are not your travel agent, but rather an intermediary between you and the travel supplier. We act as an agent for travel suppliers and not as a fiduciary. We want you to be aware that certain suppliers pay us commissions as well as incentive fees to us to help us meet our sales targets or other goals, and from time to time may also provide incentives to our travel counselors. Certain suppliers may also pay us compensation to us for various marketing and administrative services that we perform for them, such as grants, advertising, promotional programs, and other channels, participating in marketing programs and supporting technology initiatives. In addition, we receive compensation from travel suppliers for referring customers to them. When you use the American Express Card or other American Express products to pay for supplier products or services, we may receive compensation from the supplier. We may enter into other business relationships with suppliers and these arrangements, including levels and types of compensation we receive, are subject to change. In identifying suppliers and recommending itineraries, we may take into account factors such as availability, cost, and other factors, including supplier availability and your preferences. The relationships we have with suppliers may also influence the itineraries we recommend.
