I got through...Jeffrey's AF frequent flyer number was cancelled back in 2009...so he is not a member, and for sure not an Elite member...the only way to upgrade would be through Amex..it also sounds like lots of restrictions to get an award to first...its only if it is available. Seems to me the best option would be to purchase the premium economy seat and upgrade with points to Biz class (if biz class is acceptable to JE for Karyna..) Less real money up front and not an enormous amount of points used ...

I can call Flying Blue...i have 2 phones on my desk ;)
Thank you you for below!
Do you think it would be less points to transfer them to AF? or you have no idea...

OK, Premium Economy seat on Air France is $3956.33, business is $10,136.73. So you can pay difference in 618 040 American Express points and 20 % back.

I can try to call Flying Blue - it is usually a very very long hold time with them, and if I am getting call, I have to pay for it. They have mileage upgrade available.

If we wanted to purchase the Premium economy seat and upgrade to Biz on the AF flights...what would this cost to upgrade? (sorry!)

I see you gave me premium economy price but it is different return flight...so not sure the pricing would be the same.

oops! sorry! you already gave me the biz price!

Can you tell me the biz class AF price?

thank you for the break down! Let me find out what he wishes to do....Keep the flight on HOLD for Karyna p

You can't upgrade Air France ticket through Delta. And you can't book Premier class with Air France using m with Air France.

You can check mileage availability on Air France at <https://www.flyingblue.com/fr/home/explorer> and I can tra

I checked mileage space via Delta, nothing available on Delta in business round trip as direct.

So, if the goal is First class, here are options:

- 1) pay whole first class ticket in points - 1 412 253 points and 20 % back.
- 2) pay for first class ticket partially in points - let say business class fare on Air France is $10,136.73, so pay fare between business and first - $4075.80 - pay in points 407 580 points and 20% back.

would it be less expensive to purchase as a Delta ticket and upgrade to first with Delta than AF?

So what is best idea for first class AF round trip for Karyna...? We buy coach fare and upgrade with points t
