Dear Jeffrey,

For years now, many of you have asked whether we were looking into new locations for CORE: to expand to other locations. I have always replied that before we found another home, it would be essential for the city and membership to share the international relevance and vibrancy of CORE: New York.

Today, I'm excited to announce that we have indeed found just the right city.

In Spring 2020, we will be opening CORE: Milano.

Since it was first suggested by a CORE: member who travels there frequently, we have scouted over 20 different locations in this great city, visiting many historic neighborhoods and extraordinary examples of culturally significant architecture.

We have selected a spectacular location on Corso Matteotti, right in the heart of the city. CORE: Milano is centrally located at the vibrant core, Quadrilatero de walk from La Scala, the Galleria and across the street from via Montenapoleone. The building is a glorious 40,000 SF urban palazzo, complete with four outdoor terraces, three terraces, a courtyard and the tallest bell tower in Milan.

And I'm even happier to announce that as a thank you to all our CORE: New York members, you will enjoy full membership privileges in Milan. To further enhance your visits, we will have 13 suites available for you and your guests and an exclusive partnership with Emirates to make your New York-Milan connectivity completely seamless.

As a complement to our new location, we are proud to announce CORE: Direct travel by Richard David Story, a new membership privilege to provide you with an enlightened access for your Italian experiences. With Richard's vast personal connections and impeccable style and taste, this is your unique opportunity to experience Milan and other Italian cities as an insider, with the magical twist that only we can provide. This exclusive service for CORE: members is helmed by Richard David Story, chief of Departures magazine, and Jack Ezon, president of Embark Travel. Richard will introduce you to an undiscovered Italy with a traveler's passion and an insider's expertise, whether it be personal introductions to notable Italians, intimate dinners, expert, invitations to private homes and galleries, front row seats to fashion shows, or private dinners with renowned chefs.

To celebrate CORE: Milano we will be hosting a series of experiences in Italy that we will be highlighting throughout the coming year.

Since our membership is highly curated, created by and for members, we're asking our current members of our flagship location to nominate one founding member to CORE: member for membership in Milano.

Please submit your nominations to Greta, Andrea, Shanti or me directly, and please do reach out to us with any other membership inquiries.

As we move forward with CORE: Milano, members can look forward to continuing on the progress of our development. We are so excited to grow as an international community, and look forward to sharing this new adventure with you. I hope that you will join us in celebrating a bright and globally connected future. Grazie mille!

*A presto,
Jennie*
