Abe says, "Sadie, we've had forty-five nice years together, but this month we're in trouble. I haven't got the rent. You're going to have to go out and turn some tricks."
And she agrees, because it helps the joke.
That night Sadie leaves the apartment at seven, comes back at eleven-thirty and puts eighty dollars and twenty-five cents on the kitchen table.
Abe says, "Eighty dollars and twenty-five cents? Who gave you a quarter?"
She says, "Everybody."

Dirty Johnny and his father are walking along in the park. All of a sudden, Johnny says, "Hey, Pop, look at those two bowlegged bastards."

His father says, "Watch your mouth! I'm your father!"

They walk a little further and Johnny says, "Hey, Pop! Look! Two more bowlegged bastards."

His father says, "I said watch your mouth! I'm your father!"

A few minutes later Johnny says, "Pop, I don't freakin' believe it. Two more bowlegged bastards."

His father says, "All right, I've had it with you. I'm disgusted with your language."

He drags Johnny home, throws him in his room, throws in three volumes of Shakespeare and locks the door. For a week, he feeds him under the door .. omelettes, I guess. At the end of the week, Johnny's father opens the door and here comes Johnny ..

He says, "Forsooth, Father, 'tis a day to behold .."

His father says to himself, "Jesus! It worked! My plan worked! I'm a genius!"

Johnny says, "Father .. shall we go for a stroll in yon park?"

His father can't believe what he's hearing. They go to the park, and as they're walking along, Johnny's going on and on in beautiful Shakespearean prose and poetry about the leaves, and the trees, and the grass is so green, and the sky is so blue, and his father is thrilled. Then they pass two of those same guys.

Johnny says, "Father, such strange men are these .. their balls hang in parentheses."

*****

Two guys are in hospital beds next to each other, and one of the guys is covered with casts and bandages from head to toe.

The second guy says, "And you decided to give it up?"

The first guy says, "Yeah."

The second guy says, "When?"

The first guy says, "Oh, about halfway down."

Schmidlap has a sore arm, so he goes to the doctor.

The doctor examines him and then says, "Mr. Schmidlap, you've got tennis elbow."

Schmidlap says, "That's impossible, Doc. You see, I don't play tennis."

The doctor says, "That's my diagnosis .. tennis elbow."

Schmidlap says, "Impossible."

The doctor says, "Okay, Mr. Schmidlap .. I have an incredible new piece of equipment, the Urine Computer. Come back tomorrow with a urine specimen, we'll feed it into the Urine Computer, and we'll see once and for all if my diagnosis is correct."

Schmidlap is more than a little skeptical of this urine computer, so he goes home and pees in a jar, then he has his wife pee in it, he has his daughter pee in it, he has his dog pee in it, he drains some of his car oil into it, and just for good measure, he masturbates into it. The next day he goes back to see the doctor, hands him the specimen and the doctor pours it into the Urine Computer.

The Urine Computer goes "Crank! Rrrkk! Bzztt!," and then a bell rings.

The doctor looks at his computer screen. and he says, "Well, Mr. Schmidlap, according to the Urine Computer, your wife has herpes, your daughter's pregnant, your dog has rabies, your car needs a valve job, and if you don't stop jerking off, you're never gonna get rid of that tennis elbow."

Mrs. Newman says, "How many women with PMS does it take to screw in a light bulb?"

Newman says, "I have no idea."

She says, "Of course you don't. Well, I'm going to tell you how many women with PMS it takes to screw in a light bulb. One. One! And do you know why it only takes one? Because nobody in this house knows how to change a light bulb! They wouldn't even know the bulb was burned out. They'd sit in this house in the dark for three days before they figured it out. And once they figured it out they wouldn't be able to find a light bulb despite the fact that the light bulbs have been in the same cupboard for the past seventeen years. But if they did, by some fucking miracle, find a light bulb, two days later the chair that they dragged from two rooms over to stand on to change the stupid light bulb would still be in the same spot! And underneath it would be the crumpled wrapper the stupid light bulb came in. Why? Because nobody in this house ever carries out the garbage. It's a wonder we haven't all suffocated from the piles of garbage that are twelve feet deep throughout the entire house. This damn house. THIS DAMN HOUSE! It would take an army to keep this fucking house clean. Why don't you go shove a light bulb up your ass?"

There're two naked statues in the park, a male statue and a female statue, and they've been facing each other for hundreds of years. One day, a bolt of lightning strikes them and brings them to life. They look into each other's eyes, and without saying a word, they run, meet each other half way, join hands and disappear into the woods.

A half-hour later, they come staggering out, and they can hardly catch their breath.

The female statue looks at the male statue, smiles and says, "Let's rest up a while and then go in there and do it again."

The male statue says, "Okay .. only this time, you hold the pigeons, and I'll shit on them."
