

---

From: [REDACTED]>
Sent: Wednesday, February 22, 2012 3:45 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Bark panels

Hi [REDACTED]

Are you having the panels shipped to you first, then you will ship them to me? Or what's the best way to go about this? Ultimately I need them to end up in St.Thomas, USVI. We do have a freight forwarding company we use out of Florida to have things shipped from the mainland, Tropical Shipping if you are having them shipped first to you in California. Just trying to figure out all the logistics. Also, when will you need final payment from me? Thanks..

[REDACTED]
On Feb 8, 2012, at 3:09 PM, [REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED],

I finally got an email this morning saying the panels are ready. They want payment before they let them go and I wired money today. (The last lot still haven't been paid for by the German buyer). They should be taken into Wewak next week and my carpenter can then make the plywood crates for them. My estimate would be 3 - 4 weeks from now. Sorry it has taken so long. Communication is difficult.

[REDACTED]
-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, February 3, 2012 06:18 =M
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Bark =anel

Hi [REDACTED], Just checking in to see if you have any update on the panels? Do you know if they are ready, when we might be receiving them? Thank you, [REDACTED]

=