Hi Sarah

The frame shop in Santa Fe basically said that the frame we want is not something they would be interested in doing. They are very busy and could maybe do it in September.

The other frame shop in Alb is going to call with a price. I have been there twice and he feels confident he can make the frame and stretch the canvas and make it safe to haul out here.

The first individual was very difficult to work with and gave a price of 350. I will let you know asap as soon as the new place calls me
