

---

From: Bella Klein [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, June 7, 2012 4:23 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: My chat with verizon wireless

Please hold for a Verizon wireless sales representative to assist you with your order. Thank you for your patience.

You: Bella Klein

You: Looking for business international unlimited data plan for Iphone. Currently AT&T customer

You: My friend just got an unlimited international data plan for extra $99. Do you offer it?

You: thank you

Autum: Thank you for visiting Verizon Wireless; it's been a pleasure chatting with you. Have a great day! On Jun 7, 2012, at 11:33 AM, Sarah Hensington wrote:

Really? He is a brand new customer, opened a business account and has unlimited international data for $99 extra per month.

On Jun 7, 2012, at 4:45 PM, Bella Klein [REDACTED] wrote:

Called Verizon, they don't offer unlimited plan to new customers, but they keep the plan for customers that had it before. Unlimited plan for $64.99 discontinued in January. >

On Jun 5, 2012, at 6:35 AM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Hey Bella. My boyfriend just switched to Verizon for his cell phone. He said he has a business plan with an unlimited international data plan of $99. Maybe we should look into switching our plan to Verizon if they offer unlimited international data? Or tell AT&T we are going to switch unless they offer us the same thing >

=