I dont know what to say...

I've been there for 3 day= preparing for JEs arrival and now im in the dog house because he didnt kn=w I was there. I have snacks made in the fridge and all kinds of food read= to cook for him upon his return... Steak, beef stew, chicken soup, chocol=te cream pie....

Everyone except JE knew i was in the house and some how=nobody thought to tell him. I even offered to help prepare the burgers and=was told NO. Then I asked if that was what he wanted for dinner, which was=odd to me, and no one had an answer for me except "He doesnt want to =e bothered".

I even mentioned to Karyna via email that I was there a=d prepared to cook dinner tonight and that was before JE even returned hom=.

I dont know where I went wrong on this one. =A0

He asked if I let Francis know that we were =oming and I said yes. I suppose I should not have taken for granted that h= would understand that this would obviously mean that you were at the hous= Francis. I don't know why Jojo didn't mention anything before get=ing the burger. I suppose he just followed Je instruction. Anyway, moving =orward, on days he returns when francis has not been traveling with him, l=suppose we should let him know that you are going to be at the house and a=k him what he would like prepared for when he arrives beside jerky ginger =nd muffins? Would this work?
