Could you also try and see if you can find somewhere there which might have these chaise lounges in stock? They are made of vinyl plastic straps and JE wants all white. I'm only finding them online available or special order since they offer numerous options for the color of the straps and frame, but we just wants all white and thinks that maybe someone would have them in stock somewhere. I'm inclined to think not, but could you check non the less? possibly home depot, lowes, any out door furniture store..
