
From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, August 12, 2011 3:42 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Photos

Thank =ou! I am aware of the back side of the windows also needing something, =ut I think Je is uncertain of what he wants for the back... but thank =ou for the reminder so I can get him to think of =deas!

On Aug 12, 2011, at 5:38 PM, [REDACTED] =rote:

Hi [REDACTED]

Agree about sofa back wall, I will set it up this afternoon and =review the scale, to be honest I did not move the coffee table in place =ecause I could not move it - will get some strong bodies to help me =ith that. Will let you know about the size of furniture etc

Fabric - Black very black, I will also measure up this =fternoon and forward

FYI - we do need to review the leather in the library, as one =hing we did not address was the other side of the screens ie the big =indow when closed shows raw wood when you look thru the window - =taining would solve the problem - I will forward photos =lso

K

On Fri, Aug 12, 2011 at 9:25 AM, [REDACTED]

Thanks [REDACTED]

very helpful. Personally, I think it makes sense to have the sofa =n the back wall with no game table. I showed JE the photos and he would =ike to see more photos of the overall room with the couch against the =ack wall so he can get a better sense; photos from the corners, etc, so =here is more perspective of overall room. Maybe we get a shorter =ouch for that room, could be an option I suppose. They sell the same =ouch in a 6' version. (the current one is 7') Not sure if that would =ake enough of a difference.

He also said we can take out the horse hair cabinet, but I know we =ill need something there to cover the conduit, etc. I don't know how =arge it is or what it looks like? Maybe we could have a box built =round it which opens that could be painted the same as the =alls?

JE said we don't have to worry about covering the shelves in the =ack of the room because his back will be to them. He said we don't even =ave to worry about the curtains coming all the way to the shelving on =he wall because we won't see that part either when watching a movie. He =oesn't seem too concerned with the way it will look when you walk in =he room, as long as it makes the walls black while watching a movie so =here isn't the glare off the white walls.

He questioned the blackness of the fabric from the photos, but in =erson it looks black right? I said it was just the flash from the =amera that made it look lighter.

On Aug 12, 2011, at 3:32 PM, [REDACTED] =rote:

Hi [REDACTED]

1 - Fabric I am suggesting
2 & 3 - other fabric sample which I do not think will work =s well
5 - Back Shelving Wall Great Room - may not need to be address =ith fabric?
7 - Showing corner - fabric would not stop at shelving, but go =ight into corner - cut out area
9 - Showing how a rod could go right in front of shelving, =itting on moulding noting than when curtains were pulled back, you =ould still see the rod
10, 11 & 13 - Relax room with 2 matching chairs, noting =oor hits chair
14 - Space between sofa and table on back wall I do not believe =e could move it any closer
12 - Space between side table and horsehair book =helf
16 - Sofa on back wall
15 - Gap between chair and horsehair with sofa on back =all
19 - Gap between chair and wall with sofa on back =all

Please note I think the room looks very good in pictures 10 =amp; 11 - shame about the door

Let me know what else you may need, if you could get some =irection on if JE wants the back shelving wall curtained or not then I =ill work on fabric quantity

Warmest regards

--

LSJ,LLC
Island =anager
6100 Red Hook Quarters =uite B3
St =homas
USVI 00802

Tel: 340 775 8100 <tel:340%20775%208100>
Fax: 340=775 8108

-- =br>LSJ,LLC
Island =anager
6100 Red Hook =uarters Suite B3
St =homas
USVI 00802

Tel: 340 775 =100
Fax: 340 775 =108

=