

---

From: Sarah K [REDACTED] >
Sent: Friday, August 12, 2011 7:05 PM
To: anthony valenti
Subject: Re: 301 E 66th st.

It is 107" long with just a white painted finish.

On Aug 12, 2011, at 3:33 PM, anthony valenti wrote:

Sarah,

Not a problem. I won't see my cabinet maker until next week. I can get you a price then.

How long is the unit?

What type of finish? Painted?

Anthony

On Thu, Aug 11, 2011 at 2:09 PM, Sarah K [REDACTED] wrote:

Hi Anthony,

I am looking for someone to make a cover for my radiator and AC unit under the windows in the living room. I've attached a photo of what it looks like now along with a sketch of what I'd like it to be. I'd like three removable grates going across the front so I have the option to have the shelves and AC unit exposed or covered. There were removable grates there before which I think just had magnets to attach them. Would you be able to give me a quote to do this work? Thanks.

Sarah

On Aug 1, 2011, at 3:00 PM, anthony valenti wrote:

Sarah,

I am just waiting on that piece to come in. It had to be ordered. When it comes in we will install it.

The molding is #341 from Dykes Lumber (44th street between 8th and 9th). You can pick it up yourself. It would be cheaper for you instead of me charging you to buy it and deliver it.

Are we able to get the balance for the floor?

Thanks

Anthony

On Sun, Jul 31, 2011 at 5:01 PM, Sarah K [REDACTED] >
wrote:

Hi Anthony,

Just checking in again about your guys adding a molding at the bottom of my bathroom and bedroom door to prevent the wood floor from splintering further. This is what they recommended when they came to look at the splintered piece of wood flooring.

Also, would it be possible to get 10 extra feet of my baseboard? I want to use it along the bottom of the window area in the living room. Is this something I can get from you, or should I go straight to the people who you get it from?

Thanks!

Sarah

--
Anthony Valenti
New York Wood Flooring
New York Renovations
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

--
Anthony Valenti
New York Wood Flooring
New York Renovations
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]