Good morning Anthony,

I just got back to NY and spoke to my super about this project. He said =hey will need full access to the radiator which spans basically the =hole length the space until you reach the AC. Thus, I will not be able =o make shelves in the middle section of this. So basically, I would =ust like a simple covering for this area with 3 removable metal grates =o access the radiator and AC unit, but I would like the AC to be =properly built in so it looks nice when I remove the grate to use the AC =unfortunately not enough air gets through the grates when it covers the =C so must be removed when in use in order to feel the air).

I wanted to give you this update for when you are getting a quote since =t will be a much simpler job. Could you give me a quote for both just a =lain white painted finish as well as a white laquer finish?

Thank you,

Sarah
