Hey guys.. I'm going to be installing new wood floors into my apt. The materials should arrive next week on either the 7th or 8th, and then they will start the installation on the 11th. It should take about 2-3 days. Does this schedule sound OK with you? Where should I have the contractors send their insurance information?

They will be ripping out the carpet, and the marble tiles and parquet floor which is currently under the carpet. Apparently half the apt is white marble tiles and the other half is parquet. They will be doing everything except the bedroom, kitchen and bath.

The sample of the wood I've chosen is below..

Thank you,
