I am told it still smells VERY bad in 1=P? when was the vent put in? do you think it needs time to diss=pate? or is this the old vent and it was checked and it's wor=ing...I hate to say it, but if nothing else was done, then the issue s=ill exists...something else needs to be done. It is not enough a= it is even if the vent in that line is working...? It is uninh=bitable...unless you are a smoker too I'd think...! &nb=p;
