sounds like a plan!

You can ask as many questions as you like.. I don't mind at all We do have a petty cash system in place with our accountant, not a problem. You just need to give her your receipts, or I guess in the case of farmers market, just write down what it was for, etc..

I will be in touch about Wed. as soon as I know something concrete!

Hi Sarah,

I'm going to have some random questions for you in the coming days, I hope i don't drive you nuts.

When purchasing product is there a petty cash system in place? I like to go to the farmers market as much as possible and thats a cash only situation.

I would say that for the next week we will only need the blender. If the week works out and everyone is happy with my food, then I would like to go ahead and get a couple knives to have in the kitchen and the rice cooker. The kitchen seems pretty well stocked with the exception of those few items. There may be a couple things we will need from time to time, but to get started what is there now seems more than sufficient. Does that sound like a good plan?

This is the blender they have it at Williams Sonoma, i believe its out of stock at JB Prince.

Hi Fran,

It was a pleasure meeting you yesterday. Just checking if you want to stop by the house today to have a look at the kitchens. Whatever time works for you is good, just let me know and I will make sure there is someone there to let you in and show you. Thanks! Sarah. My cell is [REDACTED]
