Thanks les

As you guys manage it I would just like to let you know my thoughts on the s=tuation.

I don't understand why we put the schedule in place because your schedule wa= pretty much never stuck to by ▇ once. She always phoned me and asked if s=e could come at different times. While I understand we had to be flexible a=ound Jeffrey and guest apartments it was practically every single time. I a= not as flexible as some of us living in the building, I work from home and=can't have people around me while I am doing so. This is why I specifically=asked for times when I would be in class. When I was in finals she was phon=ng me every day at one point to come at a different time. I was always easy=and said if we couldn't manage the time scheduled by you then we could leav= it and it wasn't necessary to clean.

I understand she complained to Karyna about the fact that she is spending mo=e time on my place than the rest due to my school things in my living room a=d the clothes which I have temporarily moved from my closet to get rid of m=ths. (I said in my group email when I explained that that she didn't have t= deal with it.) I find this hard to believe because there have been occasio=s that it looked like not much was done. I will continue to be at school an= my equipment and documents are large. So if she can't manage it with Leo I=would rather pay my cleaner who manages it pregnant (mostly on her own) and=with an amazing attitude and a superior end result. Or Monica who is super f=st and also has an amazing attitude.

Last week there was a different excuse. She said she didn't know where to st=rt because I didn't have cleaning stuff. I asked her to give me a list of w=at was missing and I would purchase it for her. Eventually I extracted that=it was just liquid for hand washing dishes. Everything else was there. I ha=e no idea how this hampered the entire cleaning of the apartment.
