

To: Ghislaine Maxwell [REDACTED]
From: Katie Vaughan-Edwards
Sent: Tue 10/2/2001 7:26:29 PM
Subject: Update

Dear G - hope you have recovered from the strains of commercial flying! It was great to see you - Isabella and I managed to get home eventually though she sadly wasn't very well that night (or since) - the joys of parenthood!!

Ray is taking the carpet to Christies and Sotherbys tomorrow - there is a rug sale on the 17th (I think) so we will see what price they both reckon on and if they will take it.

We are going to measure up for the fridge and I will then find one and Phil will install it. Hopefully this will be sorted by the end of next week.

I spoke to Phil yesterday. He is hoping to get someone in this week to do the painting. I will chase him again tomorrow.

Someone is coming on Monday next week to look at the phones again. They were fine before the mirrors and carpet were done - I wonder if they managed to splice something? Anyway, I won't mention that to Spitfire and will see what they come up with.

Speak to you soon. Lots of love Kxxx