

To: gmax[gmail.com]
From: Casey Wasserman
Sent: Mon 4/7/2003 11:23:01 PM
Subject: RE:

Title: Message

June gloom is the common phrase...very foggy in the AM, usually burns off in the afternoon...but still in the high 70's, low 80's...

I like Carbon Beach the best, and of course, that is where my house is...and it is the best and nicest beach and closest to the city which is nice.

-----Original Message-----

From: gmax [mailto:gmax@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, April 07, 2003 4:28 PM
To: Casey Wasserman
Subject: RE:

Max will be relieved - Stephen Shapiro just called and is going to find out what is available in June to rent in the 3 different areas along the beach. I said I would look at all 3 and would make a decision based more on the house than the area probably. Do you have a view? I don't know anything about Malibu or LA for that matter. Anyway, regardless of that, Stephen told me that the weather is normally lousy in June -Is that right? What does lousy mean? Is it just hazy? Please explain to the foreigner

Gx

PS - I can't sleep - where are you when I need you?

- At 04:06 PM 4/7/2003 -0700, you wrote:

that can be the exception...but only one.

-----Original Message-----

From: gmax [mailto:gmax@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, April 07, 2003 3:12 PM
To: Casey Wasserman
Subject: RE:

What about Max? - At 02:39 PM 4/7/2003 -0700, you wrote:

Or anything else?!

-----Original Message-----

From: gmax
Sent: Mon Apr 07 13:03:46 2003
To: Casey Wasserman
Subject: RE:

Ok, you will not have to share me with either a cheddar cheese, a baked bean or a kitkat.

Gx

At 11:05 AM 4/7/2003 -0700, you wrote:

You, me, and not else much...

-----Original Message-----

From: gmax [mail] [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, April 07, 2003 11:14 AM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject:

Ok, so that combo did not do it for you, what combo would then?

Gx