

To: [REDACTED]
From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Mon 9/29/2003 8:19:53 PM

JE arrived late Sat complaining that the end was nigh. (if he is going to be sick or expire he wants it to be here in Florida) I had to rush him to the emergency section of the local hospital where I changed into my nurses uniform. (Quite fetching even if I say so myself) Since then, 3 doctors visits later and 2 additional hospital visits and he is still with us - I have become the chief physician and the prognosis is for a full recovery. Suffice it to say that flying to the Carribean in a thunderstorm is preferable to my current nurse/doctor job. However, now that he is going to live I should be able to go to NY tom or the next day.

In short I can now add - very handy with a thermometer, handy w/ dangerous substances (go figure) and a stethoscope to my resume - let me know if you have any need for the above and if you prefer blue or red uniforms -

Gx