That is my biggest fear, it will be hopeless for me to even attempt to make it on time as our past rack record dictates. It is what's called a shotgun, that means everyone starts at the same time. I will be unable to leave you.
Heck I have a hard time even getting up to the bathroom.

 Unless you drive and have somewhere to be....

I'll find out what time golf is. I think it's eary. Maybe if we start saying goodbye when we go to bed???

As to the poor Ritz guy, I was just giving him tips on his career, and even offered to discuss it with his superiors if he thought it would help.

No, retard, - poor guy, You probably scared him to death - he has nothing to compare it to - how could he know who he was dealing with - The two largest nightmare/picky hotel snobs on the planet
Ok, so no hotels in Stuart - you need to tell me what time golf is then so I can see if the helicopter I can fly is free at that time + if not which other helicopter they have available - failing both of those options you will have to get your arse out of bed and leave me, more like abandon me, to snuggle in your absence with a pillow
