Oops meant to tell you - I am VERY happy with my hair-nothing to do w/lot's of compliments, wolfe whistles or any type of external signs of appreciation - I have just matured enough to accept my short but long looking hair for what it is + I appreciate all the little opportunities it affords me to snip a little here and snip a little there just so that I can get to that perfect 'oh my god, did she cut her own hair look I love so much...:)
