Couple of things. I think I have found a man for you to run your house and be your butler and who will work 365 and 25 hours a day. I interviewed him for myself and would have hired him except that I decided to stick with a couple (it was when I was thinking I did not need a couple). I have a call into him and will see him this week and if when I see him again I still like him as much I'll give him to you.
