

Sent: Sat 1/1/4501 5:00:00 AM
Subject:

"Charlestown and South Boston are already far different from what they were in the 1970s. Luxury waterfront housing has brought scores of young professionals to Charlestown, while the Irish bars and pizza joints on West Broadway in Southie are now complemented by fancy bakeries and cafes advertising ''micro-roasted coffee'' and cappuccino. Housing prices have skyrocketed in both neighborhoods, making it difficult for young couples who grew up there to stay."

G-d, it's enough to make you want to puke....

McVacuum + Jerealistate = more Ca$$$$h for a paltry semblence of White living standards...

Here.

Best Regards,

JT