Ew- matchmaker definitely, social not. It implies that it is only one type of person and simply does not acknowledge the rich and textured panacea of those whom who are beginning and shall continue to er converse with.

Last night was a classic. I told you that I was best man - well it was hysterical. I stood by the groom went to the urinal w/him - stood and peed - told him the helicopter was waiting if he changed his mind and gave the rings at the ceremony as I stood by his side in my pinstripe suit. The officiating minister or whom ever it was got so confused - he kept referring to the best man and then having to correct himself and then blushing it was a hoot

Gx
