

To: Ted Waitt [REDACTED]
From: "G. Max" [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Schedule

I'll just take your promise to behave at face value and leave it at that. I shall avoid any mention of you for the time being. Kevin told me I do not have to give a name yet - I shall avoid your name for as long as security does not ask for it, and by that avoid exciting Kevin's interest. I never do deals with my brother - not even over something as innocuous as teasing me - it would merely make matters worse. Therefore you may not have his no.

At 05:06 PM 4/8/2004 -0500, you wrote:

Thank you for that. I absolutely promise to behave, and if you give me your brothers phone number I'll call him to make sure he promises to behave too.
Deal???

-----Original Message-----

From: Gmax [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, April 08, 2004 2:55 PM
To: Ted Waitt
Subject: RE: Schedule

>No, you are everyday. I just thought I would tell you again today >incase you forgot how I feel about you.
+ the thought of you colluding with my brother on anything sends a shiver down my spine. It is simply not permitted on any level - and whilst we are on the subject, nor any other member of my family either. I won't even introduce you to Kevin unless you promise to almost ignore him. Having sd that he LOVES me - I am his fav sister so has nothing nasty to say. Kevin just gets the biggest, most massive kick out of teasing me, making me squirm in general - unfortunately he does it very well. I only thought about us going together as I thought it might be great fun for you/us - new place, new people, odd event. I just wish it was not my bro's invite! I can of course always invite someone else if you do not PROMISE to behave??? I have already started investigating all the fun things to do there - there is a lot to do.
Why hell - surely contrition last longer than 24 hours?

>Know you didn't, am am I to interpret that as I was just " amazing, >wonderful, thoughtful and yummy" today, or every day and you forgot to tell >me today? Either way I'm very happy.
>
>Going through a bit of hell right now, last minute negotiations with the >vacation scene.
>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: G. Max [REDACTED]

>Sent: Thursday, April 08, 2004 10:24 AM

>To: Ted Waitt

>Subject: RE: Schedule

>

>I know my dentist will be happy with that decision! I, on the hand, was not >entirely unhappy with the idea of having to cancel him again. I shall give >it some thought where else/what else - but, it seems to me that the where >else is almost entirely wasted at this juncture as a little room anywhere >seems to do the trick? I am, however, germinating a plan which is not NY >based. Germinating being the operative word - ie, when it has taken root I >shall share.

>Did I tell you how amazing, wonderful, thoughtful and yummy you are today ?

>

>Gx

>

>At 11:22 AM 4/8/2004 -0500, you wrote:

>>That's fine, you have to do what you have to do and I don't want you >>changing your plans for me, let alone for a 4th time :) I'll know more >>later today, but we can just plan for now on me coming to you on or about >>that Thursday. Unless you have a better idea of somewhere we can/should >go.

>>

>>

>>-----Original Message-----

>>From: G. Max [REDACTED]

>>Sent: Thursday, April 08, 2004 9:32 AM

>>To: Ted Waitt

>>Subject: Re: Schedule

>>

>>I just went through my schedule properly for next week - I can't leave/am >>not free until Thursday early afternoon - I forgot that I made several >>other appointments for that week thinking that I would be in town. Some of >>them I have rescheduled 3 times already (according to my secretary, who >>thinks I now resemble one of my brother's children, and believes that I >>have definitely fallen on my head - how could I possibly rescheduled all >>that stuff a fourth time???). + I have a dinner Wed night I cannot/should > >not cancel. So armed with this info let me know what you want to do, or > >what you want me to do.