Ms. Maxwell:

This could be good...

I just spoke to Angelita Pantaleon who arrived from the Philippines last week and her sister Arene Pualenglo who has been here since '94. My friend employees their mother who he describes as "excellent". (His standards are as high as ours or at least as high as we want ours to be.) Their mother trained both of them.

Angelita is quiet and soft spoken. She worked at a bank in the Philippines as an accounts clerk for 5 years. She has 2 boys ages 12 and 7. Her husband is seeking a position as an inspector for the telephone company. She desires to work 5 days per week and considers herself strong in housekeeping and laundry. She also cooks describes herself as "hardworking" and enjoys housekeeping. She would like a position which includes benefits.

Arene works 3 days per week and prefers to supplement her existing employment with additional clients. She has two children ages 2 and 9. Her rate is $15. per hour.

Neither are legal.

They were early for our interview and refused to take cab fare to return home and left in the rain for the subway...

I'll be surprised if you don't feel your "energy" with Angelita...perhaps you should refrain from asking her to certify your horses breeding papers...real funny Ms. Maxwell...

I have a video if you're interested...
