Subject: Precor AMT 885 (Adaptive Motion Trainer)

Precor does not make an "arc trainer" ;Cybex makes the arc trainer.

Precor makes =n AMT 885 (Adaptive Motion Trainer)

<https://www.leisurefitness.com/Precor-AMT=885-with-Open-Stride-Adaptive-Motion-Trainer-P1554.aspx>

The Precor AMT 885 is a commercial grade machine. It =s an elliptical, stepper, treadmill and spin bike all in one machine. ;It has a 19" touch screen console (you can swipe like you do an =phone) You can get internet and TV (BUT, this must be hard wired, no =ifi) You can incline. It lists for $11,995.00 ;

Leisure Fitness has a 20% restocking =ee. Return/Exchange must be done within 30 days. If we =xchange the Precor you have now for the AMT they will work with you re =he restocking fee. Once a machine is delivered it is now =onsidered used and it voids the warranty. ;

The machine is huge! it is 29" =ide, 48" tall and the max turning radius is 64". Merwin would =eed to make sure this machine can go up in the elevator and make any =urns that are required. It is a 3 person job for delivery. ;Weighs 422 lbs. Leisure Fitness has one in =tock.

Just FYI-Leisure Fitness does not carry =ybex. The Cybex "arc trainer" only has one motion where the AMT =85 has 4 motions.

Please advise what you would =ike to do.
