Is he on the 6 or the 6S? I don't recall =ffhand, I think the 6.

If he's on the 6, I'd recommend =pgrading to a new 6S, as it's a much better device.

If he's on a 6S, see if =hey can repair onsite, but the answer is probably no and we'll need to =ay a bit more to swap the whole device.

(The 6 they repair onsite, the 6S =robably not -- usually takes 6 months before they start carrying the =creen in stock, so instead of a screen replacement your getting a =efurbished phone).

Either way, the phone needs to be backed up before taking it =n. His laptop won't have enough free space for that, but any of the =Macs will.

He's not in town in this mess, is he??!!
