Yesterday was very produ=tive. As is turns out the information from 25 years ago has been help=ul but because of all the changes is inaccurate.

Next week will be the day we lose lights. While I would l=ke very much to do this floor by floor I am not sure we have the luxury of t=me on our side to do so. My intention is to start on one floor and se= how that progresses. At that point we may take down the rest of the s=stem and have a few days with no lights.

W= will be there again today and most likely tomorrow. I have a securit=/camera company stopping by today around 10:30 AM. They are a very pr=fessional organization that can certainly get the job done.

How is project going? Any tho=ghts on timing when we may loose lighting. Will it be entire building or by=floor? Thanks.
