Subject: Back at the Office

Hi Jeffrey, we are back at the office and I can start using my support team now.

This time I'll be sending you more ideas related to the connection between the two Islands.

A new concept of a floating platforms ? That will be anchor , to the bottom of the ocean, similar to the boats anchored at Christmas Bay, but these platforms will be between your two islands.

This will create the sense that the other vessels cruising are entering private property.

And will give as a chance to design something on top them?

Let me start drawing some more sketches today, and I will be sending them by tonight , so we can discuss if it makes sense to you ?

Thank you everting, and specially for all the support given to us at the island, we appreciated very much.

It was great to meet you Jeffrey

Regards

if the connection wire it will have to be high enough for a sail boat to pass underneath?
