Okay, here goes: I test drove X5 today (again) in the crazy snow. I could have killed us multiple times (tried) and it was really stable. I also test drove the Cheyenne as the dealership was right next to the Audi. Thought to rule it out, but it drive like a dream! (Best two for drive: BMW and Porsche) Not the best body preference, but a seriously comfortable fit/drive for a tall driver.

The BMW X5 overall is great- '14 drives very differently (significantly better) than the '13- less 'heavy' more like a car. The Jeep has amazingly cool features, but it was still a 'bouncy' ride.
