It's been an amazing one for all of us at TKC. We kicked it off with our big annual fundraiser in Aspen, Colorado. We were joined by 200 of our friends and supporters and spent the evening in Wonderland, enjoying an incredible meal together, listening to a performance by Aloe Blacc, and raising over $1,000,000 for our work building Learning Gardens in schools.

We also took big steps toward our 2020 Growth plan this summer, building our first Pittsburgh Learning Gardens in partnership with the awesome team at Grow Pittsburgh, and announcing our plans to break ground in Indianapolis this fall.

Our team couldn't be more ready for this school year and is already elbow-deep in the Learning Garden beds, working with teachers to get in their last harvests before the weather turns.

We're so excited for what's to come and we're so glad you're along for the ride with us!

This summer, The Kitchen Community partnered with Well= Fargo to bring a Learning Garden to the incredible school community at Sa=doval Elementary School, located on Chicago's South Side. The Kitchen Comm=nity transformed Sandoval's existing courtyard into a beautiful Learning G=rden outdoor classroom, and it's already thriving with TLC from the school=

In September, our friends from Wells Fargo joined a group of fourth graders at Sandoval to plant some fall crops in their brand new Learning Garden. We all had a blast, and we are so grateful to Wells Fargo for their generous support of this project!

Students from six Chicago high schools=spent the summer as paid apprentices in their Learning Garden, working as =arket growers for local restaurants. They planned, planted, and cared for =heir garden all summer, ultimately harvesting and selling a whopping 1,110=lbs of produce - earning a total of $4,942 to reinvest in their schools! <=

Summer en=ed with a bang in Memphis this year as the community came together to supp=rt TKC at the soft opening of The Kitchen Bistro at Shelby Farms Park.&nbs=; We couldn't have asked for a more beautiful setting (or sunset!) for a f=ndraiser. The Kitchen Bistro sits on the edge of Hyde Lake at the ce=ter of Shelby Farms Park's 4,500 acres of recently reinvigorated green spa=e.

We are so=thankful to be a part of such a passionate and engaged community and thril=ed to have been the first to welcome The Kitchen Bistro to Memphis!
