I have heard the reports =bout statins (of which Crestor is one) and cognitive concerns long term, n=t heard as much about the low carb diets and cognition but will check it out.

<=p>

As for the co-q10 – the=e is no downside to taking – I usually recommend it when people seem to =ave statin related muscle aches, had not thought of it in terms of preventing cognitive concerns with the meds but fine to take as no risk=that I am aware of

<=p>

Best

I'm hearing that too little carbs and Crestor can affect cognition and that I should take coq10 as an antidote.
Opinions? =o:p>

George church local genetic genius is said to believe this.
