Dea= Jeffrey,

We have =completed a rough cut the episode featuring my conversation with Woody on &=uot;This is just to say" by William Carlos Williams.

The episode now includes 2 poets, a= historian and five couples and a lot of archival footage and music. =It's warm and textured and funny and it teaches a lot, too. =A0

<=iv class="gmail_default" style="font-size:small">Our executive produce= at WGBH loves the episode, and I really like it too. ( =t is better, by the way, for your suggestions/critique of my performance).=Thank you.

The one=primary element that is missing from the episode is a full reading of t=e poem from Woody.

=C2 We don't need video--just a good audio file of him reading=the poem a few times. If Woody would record three readings of it in his st=dio, that would help me so much. The poem is around 50 words long, h= could do a few readings in a minute or two.

Would you help with the ask?

Lisa
