Jeffrey

When you are next in New York I propose that you and I sit down for ten minutes so I can provide you with complete and candid observations on operations at the family office. I will be objective, succinct and constructive and will include a critique of myself as well as further critique of everyone there. I have further thoughts since our meeting a couple of weeks ago.

I would like to do this in person so you can challenge me if you wish. It will be helpful for both you and Leon.
