Hi Joi,

My own interests are in =ntegrated cognitive architectures (i.e. things that Josh Tenenbaum =oes), with a focus on computational models of motivation and affect. I =m modeling the emergence of goals and decision making from a set of =ognitive, physiological and social drives, and the emergence of affect =rom cognitive modulation.

I would also be very interested in learning more =about Deb Roy's work, because I love the paradigm of stepping up the =adder of child performance as a way of understanding the =ind.
