Thanks for the info. He is not being realistic. Being "made whole" is a concept in play when there is a written indemnity agreement. Here we are talking about a disputed bill with no representation agreement.

You said you would get back to me Friday. I'm assuming you got tied up with something else, but would appreciate a response.</=>

Thanks

Mike

Jeffrey:

Here is the information on the outstanding bill:

The Judgment from 08/15/14 was for $155,464.22

Interest on that judgment, per the judgment (10 per=ent) through today is $10,051.24

California counsel fees through today in excess of=those that were included in the judgment are $35,039.50

California counsel costs through today beyond those=that were included in the judgment are $7,862.

Florida counsel costs are approximately $16,000.

If my math is correct, this totals $224,416.96.

I appreciate your calling and apologizing for this=20 situation getting to this point. I too am sorry it got to where we=20 are.

As I mentioned when we spoke, I believe the fair th=ng to do is to make me whole for what this has cost me to pursue. Also,=as I mentioned, if we can get this resolved quickly, I am willing to waive th= interest of $10,051.24 which is due according to the judgment, leaving=a balance of $214,365.72.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.<=U>

Best,

Mike
