Hi Jeffrey,

For the last 2 years we have been working on refining an assistant service called Fin. As you may know, we use a combination of machine and human intelligence to dramatically outperform traditional virtual assistants and 24/7 time help. Fin remembers all of your personal context and interacts over app, email, web, sms, and phone 24x7.

Fin can accomplish all sorts of natural requests for you like:

- Finding & purchasing supplies and gifts
- Researching and booking travel, events, and dinners
- Scheduling over email for social or work occasions
- Researching and arranging local service providers
- Paying bills and other personal administritivia

We are ready to handle more users and thought you might enjoy trying us out.

We are opening access to friends who already have a lot of people in their network using Fin. Use this personal invite link
