I apologize for the delayed response. I received this email as I was about to enter the winners circle for the Carnival races and until Amy's call today to discuss this route it completely slipped me.

I would like a little clarity on the plan. When you say the generator will be the backup am I to understand that each island has their own backup generator?

hugo , as wapa is fairly unreliable . i think the safest think would be to run a cable from lsj to gsh so that my generators can back up both. ? thoughts.
