Good morning,

This is about the only time I can send and email from home. The office has n= connectivity at all. The power is still out and WAPA has not published a t=me for Red Hook as yet. They are focusing on Downtown and the areas around=and including the hospital and two schools which are being used as shelters=.

The office smells as we have no AC - the AYH generator doesn't allow for our=AC to work. We all met at the office on Monday and will be there today to a=r it out and begin trying to work just in the reception area since we can o=en the front doors for air.

There is still no cell service on the east end. Most of the towers came dow=. There is cell service from mid-island (Cost-U-Less and Havensight areas)=going west.

There are still long lines for gas and about an hour wait to get into and fo=d store. Everything is still cash and carry. The banks opened for limited=service yesterday.

I have not been able to communicate with Anna for the last two days. Jeanne=told me that Anna was going to LSJ and GSJ on Monday. I did a short debrie= with Carlos on Monday and he indicated that there was extensive damage on L=J. The backhoe had been moved to STT prior to Irma's arrival. I also spoke=to Smiley who said that he lost his home.

We apparently have a tropical storm headed our way this weekend so more rain=for a day or two.

Tropical Shipping will begin coming in this weekend, weather permitting. Th= airport will reopen on Saturday, again, weather permitting.

We are still on 6PM -12PM curfew. The roads are more passable but everyone h=ads out at the same time so it takes me a little over and hour to get to Re= Hook and I live right above Downtown.

With warm regards,

Cecile
