Today he taught me how to assemble each specific thing and the name of every object he uses for his work so that I can do it myself on Tuesday at the museum. I would assemble and disassemble it until it was perfect and understood how much patience, time and precision it takes, we went through art galleries, met interesting clients for deals... everything was very interesting and a lot of fun

Jeffrey!! I'm so lucky and grateful to be learning from such an inspiring man and photographer, everything he does is sooo beautiful!!! I love the way he thinks and see things. It's incredibile. Today it was my first day and it was amazing !! I was fascinated about everything he did and I've learned so=many new things just in a day.
