Thank you for making all of this possible. I can't tell you how grateful I am to you for getting her in and also forgetting her to go in September. It means the world to me.

Dear Bechet,

Thanks very much for writing. I'm happy to report that you've been signed up to attend:

Program	Course #	Course Title	From	To	Building	Room	Prof_First	Prof_Last
Psychology Cain	212	Personality Psychology	11:50 AM		1:10 PM	Hegeman	204	Thomas
Literature Brent	253	Isaac Babel & Revolution		3:00 PM	5:20 PM	Olin	202	Jonathan

Date: Friday 4/21.

I may not be in the office on Friday, but my colleague Fu-chen Chan will. She and anyone at the Office of Admission will be able to assist you during your visit. Please arrive a few minutes early to your classes and introduce yourself to the professors as an accepted student. We recommend that you acquaint yourself with our campus <http://www.bard.edu/campus/maps/maptour/> prior to arriving and that you print out this map <http://www.bard.edu/campus/maps/pdfs/campusmap.pdf>. As well, if you stop by the Office of Admission prior to your classes we can point you towards them.

If you're looking for other things to see during your visit you should check out our Calendar of Events <http://www.bard.edu/news/events/?year=2017&month=4> and consider popping in at these offices:

Residence Life <http://www.bard.edu/reslife/> : Drop in Monday through Friday from 9:30am-4:30pm (except on Wednesdays from 9am-12pm and Thursdays from 1:30pm-3:30pm).

Center for Student Life and Advising <http://www.bard.edu/csia/> : Drop in Monday through Friday from 10am-4pm.

The Learning Commons <http://www.bard.edu/learningcommons/> : Drop in Monday through Friday 10am-5pm.

The Performing Arts Center: The Dance Program <http://dance.bard.edu/> and the Theater and Performance Program <http://theater.bard.edu/> offer 15-minute tours between noon and 1pm.

Though the vast majority of class visits go off without a hitch, occasional unexpected disruptions do occur. Should an unforeseen issue arise during your time at Bard, we'll do our best to make other arrangements.

Sincerely,
Mike
