I do apologize for not letting you know but your in residence and I can't afford to run out of water on GSJ.
=div>

We need to revisit purchasing a new water maker for GSJ.=It's just not working, were using more water than it can make

The solar energy is going down fast because Chris have to run the water maker at night to keep up with the irrigation and the reason the generator went down was also due to us trying to make water at night for the next day

If we had a water truck of our own we could probably just run water back-and-forth in situations like this. We have a little water wagon that we use to water plants on GSJ but it's still not enough
