Valeria,

Thank you; yes this is very helpful.◆=A0 But it is not as advantageous as I had hoped to find. See my summary schedule below.

It would be very difficult to assert that you =eft MA permanently in January with this fact pattern.=/p>

If Arizona remains your permanent residence in=2018, at best we can do a part year MA residency until 10/22, and then AZ =or the remainder of the year. If AZ is not going to =e permanent, we will likely leave you as a full year MA resident for 2017.=u>

Therefore it would still be more advantageous =ot to take any more IRA withdrawals until after 10/23! And it still remains that the best solution to covering your 2017 ta= obligations on the withdrawals you've already made is to make an =dditional distribution that is completely applied as Federal and MA tax wi=hholdings. And then all future distributions should have an appropriate amount =f tax withholding.

Matt will be updating your 2016 tax return for=the additional information that you provided last night, and we will get b=c;k to you on Monday with an update and a plan for getting your returns filed =n the nick of time!

Let me know if you have any questions.<=>

Dear Noam & Valeria,

Time is running out for the tax filing deadline for our 2016 income tax returns. We haven't received any response to our requests for information for 2016, or the emails below concerning 2017 tax planning. I will separately forward you the list of questions for 2016.

Please let us know when you will be able to provide the answers, and also confirm your new address in Arizona. We have also tried to call you, but consistently get messages that your voice mailbox has not been set up.

Thanks,

Nick

Subject: State of Residency

Dear Noam and Valeria,

Following up on Matt's email for 2016, we also need to address my earlier questions about your state of residency for 2017 so that we can do better tax planning and make estimated tax payments to the right state.

Without knowing the facts and circumstances, there are at least 3 possibilities, i.e.,

Arizona resident for the full year;

MA resident for the full year; or,

Part-year resident in each state.

Ideally, from the perspective of minimizing taxes, the full year of residency in AZ is best. See my earlier email below for more details.

Hopefully we can hear from you soon.</=>

Thanks,

Nick

Subject: RE: Quarterly Estimates

Dear Noam and Valeria,

Congratulations on your move to Arizona and your new=position at the University of Arizona!

We need to be concerned about tax payments for 2017,=as well as getting answers to our previous questions to be able to finaliz= your 2016 tax returns.

For now, focusing on 2017, Kate has confirmed that y=u have received $580,000 in IRA distributions without any tax withholdings= The penalty for not making timely estimated payments could be significant (in the 4 digit range). In the past we have bee= like the proverbial dog chasing its tail to catch up with tax payments an= attempting to eliminate those penalties.

The best recommendation that we can do right now to =void that is to make an additional IRA distribution and have it 100% appli=d to income tax withholding. Of course that's also an additional taxable distribution, but it's essentially no differ=nt that make distributions and then making estimated tax payments. T=e beauty of doing withholding is that the IRS will count it as being appli=d equally throughout the year, even by doing it now.

I also want to raise the question about your state o= residency. Arizona personal income tax rates are about 0.6% less th=n the Massachusetts rate. I was initially thinking that we could do two state returns, part-year residents of MA, and part-year re=idents of AZ. However, I also recall that in 2016 you had spen= a significant amount your Winter in AZ. So, were you also in AZ fro= January of 2017 to mid-April when you returned to Boston? And when did you leave MA to return to AZ? If you s=end enough time in AZ in 2017, we could consider making you a full-time re=ident of AZ. Given what we know about 2017 at the moment, that could=save about $6,000 in state income taxes. Please provide the dates you were in MA, AZ, and any other states or countries.=C2◆ It doesn't matter if those dates were for work or pleasure; =t's all about physical presence.

Will you be receiving a W-2 from the University for =our teaching; or, are they paying you as an independent contractor? =lease confirm what you expect for gross salary and any related tax withholdings.

Please let us know, and then we can work on refining=the calculation of the 2017 tax payments that we recommend, and we can coo=dinate with Bainco about the IRA tax distribution.

Thanks,

Nick & Matt
