Hi Jeffrey,

Was talking to Masha again and I told her about the post Cuba event. She would also like to be involved. We are talking about bringing 12 very interesting people together on the personal development and special abilities space in an open format for 3 days.

I hope you had a chance to take a look at the polystyrene deck that I sent you before. One of the ideas we have for research and application is to get people with special abilities that can also train and mentor from all around the world to support those that are coming into their own (like masha). This gathering could explore that and also stimulate research in human potential. Will need a place to hold this (nyc, Florida, or Paris?). Will get together a list of people and a rough budget. Also anyone in your network who would also be good (e.g., Joscha).

Let us know what you think.

Gino
