My dear Jeffrey,

I've been trying to make this (find work) on my own so that you don't have yet another thing on your plate, but it's gone on too long and I want to start working.

My days are counted on OPT and I should be working within a month. I also=would prefer to lose less work days than more.

I sound out I MIGHT be allowed to freelance, which I could possibly do as temporary solution before I am hired somewhere. Have a meeting at our internal office Monday but going to go in there today and see if I can get someone to see me

I am also allowed to change job=, so even if I find something very temporary I could switch later.

Company has to be related to my industry - so interior design, could also be in architecture or as interior decorator. Also anything to do with media/social media on the topic I am sure would be fine.

Jobs available do seem to have picked up in September but they still take their time to see people and decide. I'm continuing to apply, Today to 2 companies Wyd Chapman and Alexander Zilberman
