Gary said he needs to clarify the design for the pool cabana shower floor tile. It is not large enough to put a diamond shape on only the right half of the shower floor. Maybe you could do a diamond in the center of the shower, but the overall space is not large enough to split it in half. The same for the opposite side where the toilet is going. I don't think it's a large enough space. I think the only place that would make sense to do something different in the floor would be right in the center in front of the sink when you walk into the bathroom. The sketch of the floor plan Gary sent of the bathroom makes it feel much larger on paper than it is in real life.
